1. Deliveries

You will always receive a confirmation of your order by email. You will also find an invoice and proof of shipping in your account.

Orders are delivered in a strictly neutral envelope or box. Natural Trading International will be listed as the sender.

2. Delivery time

Natural Trading International strives to deliver from stock as much as possible. If the stated delivery time is not met, you cannot hold us liable for any damage. If you feel that an order is taking too long, please contact info@menvital.com or via our website www.menvital.com.

3. Warranty

The goods must reach you in good condition. If this is not the case, we will immediately replace the goods or come up with another suitable solution. Complaints should be reported immediately upon receipt of your order via info@menvital.com or via our website www.menital.com.

4. Payments

All our online payments go through a secure SSL SERVER and are collected by Payment provider Molie of CCVPay. Natural Trading International does not deliver goods on account (except to dealers and resellers). As soon as payment for your order has been received by us, we will send the order.

5. Exchange

If the article is already damaged when you open your shipment, you can use our warranty scheme. You must then notify us immediately.

As a consumer you have the right to return items within 14 days. We will then work with you to find a suitable solution and, if necessary, return your payment to you. You must always sufficiently frank items that you return at your own expense. If Natural Trading International or its affiliated senders receive franked or insufficiently stamped items, it will refuse to accept them.

6. Personal data

The personal data is sent via a secure server. Your data will never be made available, sold or lent to third parties. The data will only be used within our own organization to keep you informed of offers, service, order status and other targeted activities.
